LANGLINE TOILET BOAF.

FITHE Natural Skin Scap-Lancline is now employed by all dermatologists and considered by them to be the very best preservative of the skin. Ordinary soaps remove the natural fat of the skin by saponification, causing this there to become hard rough, and luciastic Landline Toilet Soup on the other hand containing as it does sufat which is natural to the skin, restores its soft pliable and elastic nature and healthful surface. Lianoline Tollet Scap is sold by Chemists everywhere.

In making the water-race or channel from this the quarta was accidentally struck which forms section of what is now held to be the mainstay of Raub,—a distinctly formed reef called the Western Lode in the Manager's reports: A way on the east of the hill and round its foot beyond the Raub hole lie the stamp battery and other buildings, connected by tramway with the Runb Hole. Mr. Bibby, who has been giving an observant eye to the country in the course of his rambles round Roub, had a look at a narrow gorge on the south side of the hill, right opposite to the mill-dam, and in a southwesterly line from the Raub hole. Finding several quarts rooks lying about Mr. Bibby had pieces of these consued and prospected in the usual way, getting in every case a promising colour of gold. Finally he decided to gut a tunnel or adit right through the bill from the right side of the gorge towards the bittory, generally easterly inclining to the north. If the quarts reef encountered on the north side should be out in the course of making this tunnel right through the hill, this would indicate very definitely the lie of the-reef-between-two fixed-points and-would give a guide to the spot where additional explorations should be made beyond these points. The Governor Hongkong Rope went on board to pay a visit of welcome, and returned to shore with the illustrious visitors. On reaching the mandan which had been erected over the bunder head, Mr. Lee Warner, Political Secretary, presented the Members of the Council, the Judges of the High Court, and the Consular representatives of various nations to their Highnesses, after which they proceeded in spleadid equipages, each drawn by four walors, with postilions, to Government House. The Glougester Regiment formed the guard of honour. The streets were not lined by the military, but excellent order was preserved, and the crowds who lined the route frequently cheered. In the afternoon, His Highness visited the caves of Elaphanta. This evening there will be a dinner and ball.

LATE TELEGRAMS.

The subjoined telegrams are taken from Brisbane received yesterday :-MR. PABNELL AT. DUBLIN

LONDON, 11th December. Mr. Parnoit addressed a mosting in the Retunds, at Dublin, last night, and declared that the action of those who had secoded from the party was disgraceful. He was prepared to enter into a compromise, and to resign the leader bio if that would bring Home Rule any nearer, but he declined to region and destroy the integrity of the party in deference to a sentiment of hypocrisy, and he declared that he was supported by the people of Ireland.

A resolution expressing confidence in Mr.

Parnell was carried unsuimously.

Mr. Justin M'Carthy, the leader of the party This year's New Malwa $490 which has secoded from Mr. Parnell, has desued a manifesto, in which he appeals to the people of Old Malwo.

He declares that the consequence [tenares (New) $4624 of Mr Parnell continuing the leadership of the Baueres (Old) $4624 Irish party would be the decisive rejection of Home Rule by the British people, and the return of the Tories to power with a fresh mandate of bim to resume his position as an independent leader. Then Ireland would allow her leader to parley with him on equal terms, which would secure a promanent settlement of the Irish question. Mr. Parnell promised to organise the Irish labourers, so as to enable them to sacore an overwhelming position in the councils of the nation.

LUBD CARRINGTON'S BECEPTION IN ENGLAND. LONDON, 1 th December. Lord Carrington, late Governor of New South Wales, who, with Ludy Carrington, has just arrived in England, was met at the Victoria Termions in London to-day by a large number of friends. Among these who assembled to welcome Lord and Lady Carriagton on their return to England was Sir Francis Knollys, private secretary and groom-in-waiting to the Prince of Wales.

> arrival in this Colony of Oberg, who some time ago was accused of supplying arms to the pirates in Tonkin He did not put in an appearance at his trial and was condemned to death in his absence. The Avenir says:—Oberg has decided to return to Tonkin and surrender himself to justice for the purpose of having his case re-op ned. The following, it is said, the explanation of the disappearance which caused such excitement in Tonkin. Return-There were 2.351 visitors to the City Hall port, Oberg was, at the instigation of a French functionary, seized by Chinese pirates, who took for a long time he succeeded in reaching Canton, where he took the boat for Hongkong. The Oberg trial will certainly be of great interest and will afford an opportunity of testing the veracity of the witnesses called against him to the first trial relative to contraband dealing in arms. If Oberg gives himself up to French justice it is to be supposed he is in a position to disprove the accusations brought against him and on which his condomnation was based. It would be ridiculous to suppose he would give himself up to justice if guilty, knowing the fate that waits him if his innocence is not established. For other mail name see Supplement.

I hope that we shall all pull together in siding "denoise (but not elsewhere), and by substitut- constitution and our particular form of worship. "therefor the words 'in any part of the world." Our predecessors, with a far seeing sagacity. No questions being asked, the CHAIRMAN laid down a simple and broad evangelical basis for Christan fellowhip in this church. It was their object to comprehend all; to exclude none. It was their desire to establish a home for those this meeting on the 26th just, of which, how- known hymn and tune could be sung once again ever, due notice will be given. That concludes -a home where little should be missed, and the business of the present meeting, and I am where all should be helpful in keeping alive the faith that had come down from sire to son. It was in this spirit that our work commenced in 1843 and it is in this spirit that our work has been continued. Mistakes have been mademade in the pulpit by your ministers and they wouldbeth-first to acknowledge it and mistakes have been made by those who have occupied the pews, and by those in whose hands the managefailings, I venture to say that this church has not only fulfilled, in some moasure, the intentions of its founders, but has also been a living witness for the truth of God and a potent factor in the religious life of this colony. No one who resides in Hongkong will say that our circumstances are favourable to the development of a robust religious life. We miss the restraints of home. We miss also, and much more, those settled hab ta of life and thought which are the very bulws ke of our faith and morality. We are assail d by new temptations, and we find that many a wrong course is condoued and made easy. The dangers are serious, but so muca the stronger are the reasons for the So much the greater is the need that every good influence a could be strengthened and preserved. It is quite possible that many who worship kere will not fit d all the help they expect. You may never experience the calm and peace and joy of Sundays long ago; you may find it hard to keep alive the old enthusiasm and the old love. But this building and these services, whatever, their imperfections, should remind you that God is the same from everlasting to everlasting, and that even here He is your refuge and strongth, Every Sunday with its opportunities should speak to you of the new and living way, and should be an appeal to come boldly to the throne of grace. And such a help has this church been to many a life. Its light has been seen and its voice heard, and hearts have been made glad. With a congregation from which faces are continually disappearing and with a population that is always changing, we cannot measure our influence by the length of our church-roll or the number of our seat-holders; but let no one suppose that this church has been a milure as a spiritual force or that its ministry has been unblessed. If it has helped one struggling soul from the darkness of sin into God's marvellous light, it has justified its existence. It has helpedmany in this way. If it has lessened the burden of one weary heart and brought back the smile of conteniment, it has not failed in its mission. t line spoken to many the words of eternal comfort. To some it has re-opened the door of 817.75 hope: to others it has been a guide when mists 1,286,30 of doubt and fear obscured the way. Yes, God 65:87 | has blessed us in the part. Here men have sought and found: here from their full experience have they been constrained to say, "Surely the Lord is in this place . . . this is none other but the house $5,078.38 of God, and this is the gate of heaven." And, will God forsake us now? We pray not : we think not. Our building is new, but our spirit and our sim are what they have always been. We enter upon a new period of our history, but we make no departure from our old 4.50 traditions. We have not parrowed our doorways,

17.00 nor have we re-written our greed. And, following in the footstops of our founders, we still invite all who share our faith to worship here and. join with us in forming a living helpful brotherhood built on the recognition of Christ's supreme right to our obedience and love. Appended is the programme :- tell the Englishmen to come up on deck. The By Inspector Mathieson-The hose in the crown our work with success must come from God. Glee We may plan and build, but God alone can give Song prosperity. Nothing we have done and nothing Song we may yet propose can compensate us for the absence of this divine benediction. Our financial position may be improved, our services be made | Son more attractive, our congregations may increase in size, and our business affairs may be Recitation managed by the most experienced men, but none of these things can secure our prosperity as a church. It is I am sure, the determination of Song this congregation to relax no right affort; but we must never forget our limitations, or the ends that are set before us. Our ends are spiritual—to bring men near to God, and God nearest this—forget this—forget this—forget that this church exists for the purpose of forming and developing the Christian life, forget that our life forget that our life, forget that our life fo developing the Christian life, forget that our mission is to shipe as a light in this colony forget that on behalf of Christ we have to testify that "the grace of God hath appeared, bringing salvation to all men"-that God will not hold the si nor guiltless, and that the fires of his righteons anger will destroy the impenitent workers of iniquity-forget this. and God will blot out our name from the Book . f life ; forget this, and we shall become the scora of angels and of men. But spiritual ends can be reached y spiritual means alone. It is not by our "power or our "godliness," but by the power of Gal that spiritual wonders will be wrought. Here we may from Sunday to Sunday proclaim sin-darkaned heart, Christ is thy Light. But unless the spirit of God touch the consciences and the gold news of forgiveness, and say to the open the hearts of those who hear, the results : will be nothing at all. In ourselves we have are spiritually blind. It is God alore who can greate the new heart, God saloue smouldering faith and love. But will God indeed i condescend to come amongst us and abide with prosperity will surely be cars, and the greatest of our past achievements will be forgotten in the new successes that shall crown our labours. Let us never lose sight of the responsibilities and the possibilities of our position, for nothing ed her course to N. and remained on that course will keep us watchful in our work and faithful in our prayers like the knowledge of our obligation to the great Head of the Church, and our entire dependence upon Him. The Church which Christ founded to be the teacher of their norant, the helper of the weary, and the consoler of the sorrewcastle that from its lofty position frowns upon cottage and hamlet, the Church has looked with unconcern on the common wants and trials of the world. For the unbeliever derstood that when the influence of the Church smitten and shepherdless multitudes. But. my hearers, this great and glorious mission of the not do its part, cannot be in this colony helper of the weak and an inspiration to the strong, unless God is with us. All our springs are in Him. Apart from Him we can do nothing. And therefore we come in prayer to God and say from our hearts, "O Lord, we be seech thee, send now prosperity." But this prayer, though it is a recognition of the fact that prosperity can come from God alone, lays upon us the obligation of fresh effort and personal consecration. It is right that we should look to God for prosperity; it is pressency that we should pray But it is also right and necessary that we should do our part to secure an answer to our prayers. Would we draw near to God and sojourn in His tabernacle, then we must walk uprightly and work righteousness. "The sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination to the Lord, but the prayer of the upright is his delight." This is the thought that is behind the psalmist's words in our text. The people of Israel were ready and enger to fulfil the obligations of the law In their eaptivity they had forgotten nearly all, and away from th home and centre of their religion, holy-day and fast and festival had faded from their remembrance; but now the reading of their God-gives book instructs them afresh. They hear the words of the Divine commandments, and with "very great gladness" they hasten to obey. They did not merely pray: they rebuilt, they restored; they humbled themselves and wept over their forget fulness; they broke off their forbidden alliences and relationships, and as a people they reconsecrated themselves to God. It is in spirit that we too should draw near to God this day. The new privileges, the new hopes, the new opportunities that are ours to-day, are new only to fresh devotion and worthier work. A new gladness is in our hearts, and this should inspire a new eath siasm for the bosonr of God and the loyalty of our faith may seeme for this church in all the future years the richest benedictions of God. Of native nobles whose rank of the country is not for the rulers only but for follows the rule prevailing in Europe, there are the people generally, and it is the duty of their but few. The Confucian Duke is perhaps the Governors to assist them, as Chang Chih-tung, best known example; to him may be added is doing, to garner it. China has made some Huang, Dake of Hai-chang, who resides at Fooprogress in the introduction of the railway; chow, and the lineal descendants of Manoins and telegraph, machinery, steamers, &c., but the Koxings, each of whom bears the title of profit on them goes abroad in their purchase marquis. A further exception to the general money, and instead of the people resping the rule is made in the case of men of exceptional benefit they are left with the sole resource of renews, such as the first Marquis Tseng, whose emigration. What is wanted is to tap the title was allowed to descend unimpaired to his wealth which lies hidden under their feet and son, the well-known Minister to England.
